The "Embalmed Beef" Question Again Up Before the War Investigation Commission.

GEN. MILES' CHIEF SURGEON TESTIFIES.

Maj. W. H. Daly Tells About the Beef Hung Up Board Ship at Tampa that Had Been Treated So that Even Bull Flies Wouldn't Touch It—It Left a peculiar Taste in the Mouth.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Maj. W. H. Daly, chief surgeon with Gen. Miles, and whose field service stretched from Tampa to Porto Rico, and whose report condemning the beef furnished the expeditionary forces created a sensation some weeks ago, made his long-awaited appearance as a witness before the war investigating commission. Surgeon Daly's report was the strongest in language of those submitted by Gen. Miles in substantiation of his attack on the beef supplied. Dr. Daly has been too ill to appear heretofore. He was accompanied by Gen. Miles' own stenographer, despite the presence of the commission's official stenographer.

IDENTIFIED HIS REPORT.

He was sworn the witness identified himself as unattached to him, changing his date however, from September 31 to October 31. He was unwilling, he said, to stand by his report. It was wholly voluntary, and was not called out by any request or in obedience to any circular or letter, so far as he remembered. He had heard nothing of an official circular calling for reports. At once, however, some time between August 1 and 12, he believed he had communicated to Gen. Miles some observations regarding beef supplies. At Tampa, on ship board, he had noticed a quarter of beef hanging free in the sun, and he became interested in the experiment of having fresh slaughtered beef placed under such moist climatic conditions to see how long it could stand.

FLIES WOULDN'T TOUCH IT.

"I observed," he said, "that the flies, especially the bull flies, did not affect it; did not light on it, or they did not go away from it very quickly. He had cut off a piece of that beef at Tampa and cooked it, but it neither smelled nor tasted naturally. Later he helped the men corral some horses and subsequently he had trouble with his stomach, which he first attributed to the activity of cooking.

He noticed indications of chancroidal stuff he had used to preserve elk in a hunting expedition in the Rocky mountains, some years before.

All that day at Tampa, and the next he had an unpleasant taste. In that previous hunting experience he had analyzed the chemical preservative and found it to contain borax and salicylic acid. These were to be used externally on the elk, but he had rubbed it in the raw flesh and also injected it.

Questioned as to these ingredients, he said borax was not safe to be used in connection with food not for ordinary medicinal purposes, while the salicylic acid was most nauseous, loathsome and disgusting, almost always destructive of digestion.

A CRISIS AT HAND.

Gen. Otis Cables that He Expects the Filipinos to Force an Issue—Malia-nia the Danger Point.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The advises from Manila which have reached the war department are far from reassuring. It is understood that Gen. Otis reports an expectation on his part that the insurgents are about to force an issue, and if this should be so, the result can not be foreseen. Manila itself, and not Iloilo, as might at first be suspected, is regarded as the danger point just now.

A CURED LUNATIC.

He Gave Evidence of Being in His Right Mind Again by Chopping a Blind Farmer to Pieces.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Job A. Cooper, ex-governor of Colorado, died suddenly yesterday afternoon of heart failure. He had been ailing for several days, but felt no apprehension and no physician was called until a few hours before his death.

Mr. Cooper was governor from 1889 to 1891, being elected as a republican.

He was born in Bond county, Ill., November 6, 1843, and was a graduate of Knox college.

He served as a private in the One Hundred and Thirty-seventh Illinois infantry during the civil war. After the war he was admitted to the bar of Illinois, and established himself at Greenville.

The Newark Ordered to San Francisco.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Orders have been sent from the navy department to have the cruiser Newark start from the New York navy yard for the Pacific station, via the Straits of Magellan, to relieve the Philadelphia, which goes to Samoa.

Destructive Fire at Wilkesbarre, Pa.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 25.—One of the most destructive fires in the history of the city broke out in the Oberhout building, a large four-story brick structure, at the corner of the public square and East Market street, and before the flames were under control the great building was in ruins. The total loss is placed at $225,000.

To Reduce Her Military Establishment.

Madrid, Jan. 25.—The ministry of war has decided to abolish the military marshals, to retire half of the unattached generals and to greatly reduce the number of officers on the active list.

Took an Overdose of Morphine.

Wichita, Kas., Jan. 22.—Frank A. Lanstrum, manager of the Republic and postmaster at Pratt, Kas., took an overdose of morphine yesterday, and is dead. His ill health leads to a suspicion of suicide. He was quite wealthy.

The Inquiry Begun.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The inquiry ordered by the house of representatives as to why members were holding outside offices—originally intended to determine the status of Maj.-Gen. Wheeler and other members in the army—was begun by the committee on judiciary.

Was a Well-known Confederate.

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 22.—Dr. John Walker Scott, a member of the Fifth legislative assembly, is dead at his home at Clifton of pneumonia. He was born at Birmingham, in 1823; was speaker of the last Kansas territorial house of representatives.

Lieut. John B. Bernadou, who commanded the Winslow, raised the veil.

Mrs. Bagley, mother of Ensign Bagley, and his sister were present.

For the Texas Court-Martial.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Quarters have been secured for the general court martial appointed for the trial of Commissary General Eagan, and it is expected that it will begin its sessions there next Wednesday morning at ten o'clock in accordance with the order convening the court.

Death of Dr. John Walker Scott.

Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 22.—Dr. John Walker Scott, a member of the Fifth legislative assembly, is dead at his home at Clifton of pneumonia. He was born at Birmingham, in 1823; was speaker of the last Kansas territorial house of representatives.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 26, 1899.

The Kentucky monument at Chickamauga National Park will be dedicated during the first week in May. Governor Bradley has agreed to this arrangement.

BRIGADIER GENERAL John B. Castleman, of Kentucky, is among a list of high army officials just receiving honorable discharge from the service. Doubtless General Castleman preferred now to return to peaceful business pursuits.

THE Cuban bandits will be treated like rebellious Indians are in America. They will be hunted down by Uncle Sam's cavalry. One outlaw is no better than another and the army officials have decided that the bandits must go.

THE exports from the United States in December 1898 exceeded the imports by $83,425,959 as compared with the excess of exports over imports of $73,547,998 in the corresponding month of 1897 and $58,205,266 in the same month of 1896. Everything proves present prosperity and promises an even better future.

OUR total exports for the year 1898 amounted to $1,254,925,196. This is an increase over 1897 of $155,000,000 and over 1896 of $249,000,000 in round numbers. The excess of exports over imports for the year 1898 was $621,260,535. The figures show that the exports were the largest in the history of the country while the imports were less than they have been in the past thirteen years.

THE most remarkable case of consistency on record is that of the Danville, Ky., merchant who thought it wrong to sell cigars and tobacco. He bought out his partner and found himself with a large stock of the weed with which he did not know what to do. In order to be consistent he announced that he would have a bonfire on a certain evening and that evening he burned his stock of the objectionable stuff in the street in the presence of a large number of people.

MRS. WOOD, the General's wife, is organizing in Santiago, a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals. Until recently the bull fight was all the rage with Cuban society of every grade. In Spain, the people are beginning to revel more deeply than ever in the cruel and exciting pleasures of the bull fight and the old Roman games. It is just the old difference of the Latin and the Anglo-Saxon races slightly magnified. But America, through her noble sons and daughters, who realize the magnitude of our present obligations, is doing her whole duty as a "trustee of civilization." Spain still revels in the ignorance and folly and pride of the middle ages and will not move forward.

THE hottest fight of the season is on now in the West Virginia Legislature, and the deadlock looks almost hopeless. The result of this contest may have some important bearing on the politics of Kentucky. Commissioner of Internal Revenue Scott is the Republican candidate for United States Senator from West Virginia. If he is elected it is said that Hon. Walter Evans, of Kentucky, will be a candidate to succeed him as the head of the Revenue Department. There will be other applicants from Kentucky and elsewhere, but Mr. Evans has great strength and many friends at Washington, and if he is an applicant, his chances of success are excellent.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Judge George Denny, Jr., wants a place on the Paris Exposition Commission from Kentucky and will probably get it.

Judge James P. Tarvin, of Kentucky, who winded and dined candidate Warrior Jennings Bryan recently, is said to be looking with covetous eyes upon the Democratic nomination for vice-presidency in the next campaign.

Richard Croker, of New York, says the 16 to 1 question is a dead issue and that "the Democratic platform of 1900 has not yet been written."

William Goebel.

Walter Forrester, in The Free Press. He never laughs, but frequently smiles when his plans are working to suit him. His head is well-shaped, but his face is rather broad at the bottom, through the jaws; giving him a Brownie look in some lights. His eyelids are heavy, and droop over a pair of very keen eyes that have a serpentine appearance when he is executing any deep-laid plot. His flesh is a little loose on him, but it seems to be comfortable, and his blood flows slowly through his veins. He is coldly intellectual, and calculates every result of every action. Success, is his aim, and he uses whatever means he thinks will best serve his purpose, and he plays men as pawns on the political chess-board.

Senator Goebel was born in Pennsylvania, about twenty miles from the home of Matt Quay, and though he denies any kinship with the famous Pennsylvania boss, I have a sneaking suspicion that in times past and unbeknownst to my friend "Jo Bell," as the mountain people call him, there was some visiting back and forth between the neighborhoods.

Dewey's Message to the German Admiral.

From "With Dewey at Manila," by Joseph L. Stickney, in Harper's Magazine for February.

Our courteous and courtly Commodore made no signs. He was waiting till he could put an end to the whole annoyance with one crushing blow. At last the opportunity came. He learned on unquestionable authority, that one of the German vessels had landed provisions in Manila, thereby violating neutrality. I was not present when he sent his message to Admiral von Diederich, and therefore I do not speak from personal knowledge concerning it; but I learned the facts from a perfectly authentic source, as follows:

"Orderly, tell Mr. Brumby, I would like to see him," said Admiral Dewey, one forenoon. "Oh, Brumby," he continued, when the flag-lieutenant made his appearance on the quarter-deck, "I wish you to take the barge and go over to the German flagship. Give Admiral von Diederich my compliments, and say that I wish to call his attention to the fact that the vessels of his squadron have shown an extraordinary disregard of the usual courtesies of naval intercourse, and that finally one of them has committed a gross breach of neutrality in landing provisions in Manila, a port which I am blockading."

The Commodore's voice had been as low and sweetly modulated as if he had been sending von Diederich an invitation to dinner. When he stopped speaking, Brumby who did not need any better indication of the Commodore's mood than the unusually formal and gentle manner of his chief, turned to go, making the usual official salute, and replying with the customary, "Ay, sir." "And, Brumby," continued the Commodore, his voice rising and ringing with the intensity of feeling that he felt he had represented about long enough, "tell Admiral von Diederich that if he wants a fight, he can have it right now."

Brumby went with his message, and the Commodore paced the quarter-deck in silence for a considerable time, evidently working off some of the high pressure that had brought forth his emphatic message to the German Admiral. The latter sent back the extraordinary reply that he had not known anything about these actions of his captains, and that they would not be repeated. When one considers the rigidity of discipline that is supposed to exist in the German navy, the character of Admiral von Diederich's apology is all the more incomprehensible.

Speaking of Corporal Punishment

Sam Jones Says: "If you want to raise a boy well, raise him often." And as to corporal punishment in public schools: "If the public has to educate your kid, let the public lick your kid." Sam says there was once started a great discussion in the newspapers of Georgia about corporal punishment in public schools. He wrote a short letter to the Atlanta Evening Journal which ended the discussion. In this letter he said there were just four things in a boy to which you could appeal:

"His sense of honor."

"His conscience."

"His hide."

If he has any sense of honor, appeal to that and you've got him. If that fails appeal to his pride of character and if he has it you've got him. If he has neither but has conscience, appeal to that and you've got him. But if he has neither sense of honor, pride of character nor conscience, there is nothing left but his hide." And he added, "they left the hide right there and they are working on it yet."

"With Dewey at Manila," is the title of a war article of rare interest in the February issue of HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

It is the flag of Dewey's flagship, the Olympia, and was in position that enables him to give the most vivid and readable account of the historic battle in Manila bay that has yet been published. The article gives an intimate glimpse of the Olympia, and relates many of his characteristics, saying both before and after the battle and after it. The passage tells of Dewey's message to the German admiral and how Dewey expressed it, will thrill a responsive chord in the heart of every true American.

WHY DO BOYS SWEAR?

The following which is intended to answer the above question, may not be the best answer that could be given. There may be other reasons and better reasons than those herein given. Be those things as they may, that boys do swear and swear a great deal is lamentably too true. So the following which may not be convincing will not perhaps be objectionable.

A man goes down to the barber shop to get a shave or a haircut and while waiting for his turn or while having the work performed, hears a jolly crowd in the corner discussing the day's events, the personal experiences of some of its members or something of a similar or dissimilar nature. The persons composing the crowd are jolly, good-natured well-meaning individuals, perhaps, but that they swear now and then, sometimes often, is true. Again, a man goes to the Post Office to get his mail or to the store to get necessary articles, and while passing a corner finds another crowd. In too many instances the man does not even have to stop to hear an oath—a large, vile, emphatic oath. Other places and instances might be referred to but it is not necessary. In the cases mentioned and the others which might be mentioned the ubiquitous boy is there. He is there with vision clear, hearing acute, intellect receptive.

Now let us leave the men and meander by the place where the boys are playing. If you are not seen by the boys, and sometimes if you are seen, you will hear, in too many instances, oaths that are not so emphatically or forcefully spoken—because the boys lack the depth of voice and the proficiency acquired by long use that the men possess—but oaths that are, nevertheless less pleasing to the ear.

If what has been said is true, why boys swear is easily seen. Their seniors, the men are responsible.

But if I were to approach a man who swears, especially a young unmarried man, and tell him that he was partially responsible for the prevalence of swearing among boys in this town, his inherent pugnacity, I fear, would be aroused and a hasty retreat or the reception of strong negative language would be in order. If I did not retreat, among other things, the man would perhaps tell me that the boys were not his, that they were not compelled to say what he said and that they had no business on the streets anyhow.

John Hogan, of the Hecla, is now placed on the proppants last week, but since he has said a great strike of miners will take place in several states next year and Kentucky will as usual be called upon for coal in those states.

Soliciting agent, John Hogan, of the Hecla Coal Company, thinks he will be able to find a market for the coke produced by the Arnold mine.

Foreman John Rule, of the Arnold mine, has been on the sick last week, but this writing he is much better, and he will be able for work in a few days.

Report of the Coal and Coke Company at Madisonville will soon adopt electricity as a motive power in their mine for hauling coal and operating their mine machinery.

LOCAL NEWS.

Mrs. E. A. Chatten visited relatives in Hopkinsville, thus week.

Morris Connors and family now occupy the house recently vacated by David Adams.

Mr. T. B. Young and family have moved to the Frank Sisk place on East Main.

Mrs. W. H. Hughes and brother, of Morganfield, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McCarley.

Miss Jessie Jagoe, of Madisonville, is at home again after a pleasant visit to Mrs. T. J. Steel, of Mortons Gap.

Miss Lizzie Arnold, of Greenville, Ky., and Miss Lena Coffman, of Portia, Ark., are visitors of Mrs. Kate Withers.

Mr. Friday and wife have rented the P. M. Moore place in the "old vineyard" on the extension of Farmer street, and are making their new home there.

Mr. Howard White is still the victim of a severe cold, bordering on la grippe, but is not disabled from looking after his varied duties as mining engineer.

Mrs. Dan Williams, of the Han- son country, is visiting her aunt, Miss Bettie Stevens, of our city, who has been seriously ill for several days, but is reported much better.

John Clements is improving. When Esquire Head called to see him Monday he found him in a good humor, sitting up and ready to crack a joke and enjoy a good laugh.

Mr. Brooks and family, who have been occupying the Frank Sisk place on Main street, have moved into the house just across from Mayor Burr's, which Rev. Teel has just vacated.

Rev. I. H. Teel and family are now comfortably domiciled in their new home at the south end of Railroad street. They began moving Monday afternoon in beautiful bright weather and finished up Tuesday morning in the snow storm.

A man supposed to be a tramp, making his way South, came into town last Sunday morning at an early hour on a freight train, where he had taken passage without the knowledge of the crew. After wandering around for awhile, he made a visit to the bakery, where he tried to persuade the proprietor that he was worthy of the gift of some candy. Soon afterward, he displayed a gold watch, which at once aroused suspicion. Marshal Barnett thought it proper to place him under arrest for an investigation, but a close questioning of the suspect failed to disclose any information that would justify him in holding him longer, so he was released.

Bro. Teel at the Gap.

Elder I. H. Teel, Christian minister will preach at Mortons Gap next Sunday. He has been called to preach for the Christian Church at that place and hopes to have a large audience at his first appointment.

Quarterly Meeting.

Quarterly meeting will be held at the Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. W. C. Wilson pastor, next Saturday and Sunday Presiding Elder, S. W. Schelton will preside at the business session and preach to the people.

Episcopal Services.

Rev. M. M. Benton, of the Episcopal Church, from Louisville, will hold services in Earlington at the Christian Church, Sunday, January 29th at 11 o'clock in the morning and at 7:15 in the evening. There will be communion at the morning service.

Quarterly Meeting.

The next Quarterly Meeting for Earlinton and Nebo circuit of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be held at Nebo, convening on Saturday, February 11. The preacher in charge, Rev. Wheat, reports the affairs of the church on this circuit in good condition.

Ministers' Meeting.

Presiding Elder, Geo. H. Hayes, of the Henderson district, M. E. Church, South, has called a meeting of all the pastors under him in the district, to be held at Henderson on February 10th. It is probable that educational matters connected with the church and its work in this district will be the chief topic for consideration.

Died

On last Friday, Jan. 20, J. C. Wilson, of Hanson, after an illness of two weeks. He was born and reared in Hopkins County. On account of declining health he retired from farm life a few years ago, moving to Hanson. Twenty-five years ago he professed faith in Christ, uniting himself with the Missionary Baptist Church. He met death without fear.

He died in his seventy-first year, leaving a wife and five children, one daughter and four sons, one of whom is Rev. W. C. Wilson, of this place.

JNO. SLATTERY'S LOSS.

House and Contents Totally Destroyed by Fire—No Insurance.

About 5 o'clock Friday evening last the alarm of fire directed the attention of Earlington people to a burning house, a desolate home. John Slattery's house was a mass of flame before anybody saw it and nothing could be saved. Perry Vincent was perhaps the first man to reach the burning building and the flames were then pouring into the front room from the kitchen so that he could not save anything out of that room. John Hendricks went into the room fartherest from where the fire originated and got a chair, but the smoke was so dense there that nothing could be done.

The house was a new one and was the home of a poor man with a large family. Having no insurance the loss was total and a heavy one to Mr. Slattery at this time of life—past the half way station.

Gone to Kansas City.

Mrs. P. B. Davis, with her daughter, Miss Pauline, and young son, Pete, left Earlington Sunday night. It is understood among her friends that she went to Kansas City, although no one probably knew she was going. Mrs. Davis has had much trouble and has worked successfully through many difficulties. Not long since their home, a large frame hotel, burned. There was no insurance and the loss was almost total.

Mrs. Davis has numerous friends here who regret to lose her, and she was always a favorite with her boarders. Miss Pauline is a most popular and loveable young lady and her departure is sincerely regretted by many young friends. Dr. Davis left next day with the declared intention of finding his family.

PROBABLY FATAL.

Will Woodward, Colored, Shot by Henry O'Brien at Monarch.

Madisonville, Ky., Jan. 21.—Henry O'Brien, weight boss at the Monarch mines, one mile south of this place, shot and mortally wounded Will Woodward, colored, last night. It is said the negro accused O'Brien of failing to credit him with one car of coal, which O'Brien denied. Woodward is said to have gone to the office and abused O'Brien, and O'Brien, when the negro refused to leave the office, knocked Woodward down.

Woodward is said to have thrown a large piece of slate at O'Brien as he latter started home, and O'Brien then turned and fired on the negro, one ball striking Woodward in the abdomen.

New Crop Tobacco.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Jan. 20.—Sixty-four hogheads of the new crop were offered on the breaks this week, and fifty-six sold at prices altogether satisfactory to producers and purchasers. The 1895 crop is now being prized, stripped and delivered rapidly and will be on the market much earlier than usual this year on account of the seasonable weather. Stemmers and rehandling houses are taxed to their full capacity, receiving the loose deliveries. The greater part of the sales this week were private, and of the old stock, the stemmers buying largely of this. Bidding on the new offerings, however, was spirited. A full board of buyers attended the sales, showing that many of the foreign purchasers have placed orders with their brokers for the new crop, and that competition for the export types has begun. A steady demand for all types throughout the season is predicted. Prices prevailed this week as follows: Common lugs, $2@$2.50; medium lugs, $3@$3.40; good lugs, $4@$5; common leaf, $4.50@$5; medium leaf, $5@$5.75; good leaf, $7.50@$10; fine leaf, none offered. Receipts for week, 160, for year, 275; sales for week, 181, for year, 253; offerings, 64; receipts, 8. Old stock on hand, 3,200.

Prof. Bourland Better.

Prof. E. B. Bourland, of our public school, who has been very sick with la grippe, is convalescing and soon hopes to meet his pupils in the class room and resume his work as teacher. He was so far recovered as to walk out Sunday, and Monday noon he boarded the train for his home, near Madisonville. Prof. Bourland is still quite weak, but is apparently an interesting combination of candy pulling and old folks concert.

A Thousand Tongues

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 125 Howd St., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough for over a year. She had been to many doctors and they failed to do me any good. I got no relief until I began to use your valuable Nubian Tea. I used about two dollars worth of it, and it did me more good than all the medicine I ever took. I have gained thirty-five pounds in weight and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing again. My appetite is excellent. I can recommend Planter's Nubian Tea to the world as being a God-send to any community. Any one who doubts this statement can write OSCAR BAKER.

REV. JOHN M. CROWE,

One of the Most Able and Eloquent Preachers of the M. E. Church, South,

WILL CONDUCT A MEETING HERE

Rev. R. M. Wheat, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, has received a letter from Rev. John M. Crowe, of Louisville, promising to come here early in April to conduct a protracted meeting of nineteen days for the people of Earlington. The date now set is the first Sunday in April. Rev. Crowe is one of the most able and earnest and talented preachers in the church, and has been doing the work of an evangelist exclusively for several years. He is not by any means a stranger in this part of the State, having done much of his early ministerial work in this district of the Louisville Conference. He was some years ago pastor of Madisonville circuit, before there was a church of his denomination here, and is remembered most kindly by Hopkins county people. Brother Crowe's preaching is of the persuasive, drawing order. As one old brother says, "he is just full of preach." The Bee predicts that the walls of the Methodist church will have to be widened to accommodate the audiences when the meeting begins.

Moved in the Storm.

Tuesday was a good day for some things, staying in the house, for instance. The morning brought forth a very heavy snow storm, which came down more in earnest than anything in the weather line that this most wintry winter has produced. But the people had move in them and move they must. The moving continued all day, even till the late afternoon, when the sun peeped out a little from behind the clouds. Rev. Mr. Brooks, Mr. Friday, M. Connors and others, with their families, enjoyed the pleasures of moving despite the weather—or, maybe to spite the weather.

Robbed the Grave.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Jan. 20.—A startling incident of which Mr. John O'Brien of Philadelphia was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "It was in my most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up, and I had given up all hope. I was trying 'Electric Bitters' and to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cts. guaranteed, at St. Bernard Drug Store.

Hotel Changed Hands.

Lee Cozart and wife are the successors to Mrs. P. B. Davis in the hotel business, and will from now on feed the railroad boys and all other comers at the Grainger house on the corner. Mrs. Cozart will be in command at the hotel and Lee at the grocery and restaurant.

It is not a matter of just an increase in business. The Bee

LITERATURE

LITERATURE is an international weekly journal of literary criticism. It is a comparatively new periodical, which has been recognized from its first number as a review of the highest standing.

CRITICAL REVIEWS

Thoughtful, thorough, and comprehensive reviews of all important publications in the civilized world—French, German, Italian, Spanish, as well as English and American works, are treated from week to week.

BELLES-LETTRES

Special articles appear weekly in the paper, sometimes under the heading of "Literary Notes," and each week there are editorials on

EDMUND GOSSE MAX MÜLLER

SIR HERBERT MAXWELL DEAN STUBBS

and from time to time original pieces of literary work, poems, fictions, and essays are published, but in each case only from the pens of world-famous writers, such as

RUDYARD KIPLING GEORGE MEREDITH

Each week a leading article in the name of an editorial appears. These leaders are prepared by the editor, and deal exclusively with literary subjects.

AMERICAN LETTERS

The Bi-weekly letter, written by William Dean Howells, deals in that author's original and keen way with subjects of vital interest in the American world of letters and art.

FOREIGN LETTERS

French, English, German, and Italian letters will be published, making this periodical of great value to readers interested in the growth of literature. Occasional work by Henry James, and men of like ability, will also appear.

SPECIAL SUPPLEMENTS

will be published, devoted to descriptive articles on such subjects as rare and curious books, book-plates, special editions of famous books, noteworthy American editions, etc.

A PREMIUM OFFER

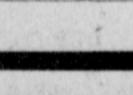

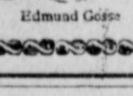

FREE A full page of LITERATURE's famous portrait supplements of distinguished men of letters (to all) for one year's subscription.
